Halualani & Associates conducted an Atlas diversity benchmarking for University of Nebraska-Lincoln in order to highlight the current comparative status/performance on inclusive excellence in terms of their peers on the following index:

Diversity Infrastructure Index Series:

- Diversity/Inclusion Leadership Infrastructure and Organization on Campus and Key Aspects;
- Characteristics of Diversity Leaders (Highest Degree Held, Reporting Structures, Roles and Responsibilities);
- Organizational Structure and Capacity of Diversity/Inclusion Division or Infrastructure

University of Nebraska-Lincoln selected the following peers for comparison in this index series:

- University of Iowa
- Indiana University Bloomington
- Michigan State University
- University of Michigan
- University of Kansas

University of Nebraska-Lincoln ranks 5th overall on this index because its peers (namely, Indiana University Bloomington, University of Iowa, University of Kansas) featured the markers of high-quality and high-impact diversity infrastructures: robust organizational structures made up of a senior-level diversity administrator role (preferably at the Vice President level) that is dedicated to proactive diversity and inclusion efforts and initiatives and university-wide collaborations across units; have this senior-level diversity administrator role report directly to the President of the university and have a seat on the President’s Cabinet (to have the attention of the highest leadership) but with a collaborative working arrangement with all Vice Presidents; and a fully resourced and institutionalized diversity-centered office that is university-wide for the campus (and stands as a major resource for all divisions and units).
